Jasmine is a kind and caring girl who loves animals. One day, she is playing in the park when she hears a faint peeping sound. She follows the sound to a nearby pond and sees a baby duckling that has fallen into the water. The duckling is struggling to stay afloat and Jasmine knows that she has to help.

Jasmine carefully reaches into the water and scoops up the duckling. She wraps the duckling in her jacket and takes it home. She gives the duckling some food and water and makes a warm bed for it in a basket. Jasmine names the duckling Button because it is so small and cute.

Jasmine takes good care of Button and helps it to get strong. She feeds it regularly and makes sure that it has a clean and comfortable place to sleep. Button quickly grows attached to Jasmine and loves to cuddle with her.

One day, Jasmine takes Button back to the park so that it can find its mother. Jasmine searches the pond and calls out to the duckling's mother. After a few minutes, she hears a loud quacking sound. She looks up and sees a mother duck swimming towards her.

Jasmine is so happy to see that Button's mother has found her. She gently places Button in the water and watches as it swims towards its mother. The mother duck quacks happily and nuzzles Button with her beak.

Jasmine is proud of herself for helping Button find its mother. She knows that she made a difference in the duckling's life and that she will never forget her new friend.
