The novel tells the story of Jonah and Liv, two teenagers who meet by chance at a party. They are drawn to each other from the moment they meet, but their relationship is quickly tested by a series of tragedies. Jonah's father dies in a car accident, and Liv's mother is diagnosed with cancer. These events force Jonah and Liv to confront their own mortality and the fragility of life.

Despite the challenges they face, Jonah and Liv's love for each other only grows stronger. They support each other through their grief and help each other to find hope in the darkest of times. However, their relationship is not without its complications. Jonah struggles with anger and guilt over his father's death, and Liv is afraid of losing her mother to cancer.
